

Lycon Training

precision waxing™

Lycon is not just a wax – it's a system. Lycon is a revolutionary wax which is growing every day. It's most famous for being more of a "treatment" rather than just a wax. It's less painful and quick and easy to use. Whilst using a pre-oil before applying the wax, this lets the wax grip to the hair when removing, the wax is pulling on the hair - NOT the skin.

Their training courses will provide you with all of the skills necessary to perform a fast, efficient and thorough treatment, focusing on everything from how this system will fit into your work place to client comfort and correct product usage. To get the best out of the training, it is advised to have some models lined up for practice sessions in the days following the training. They offer continued support to your company and can help with troubleshooting queries.

Soon all therapists will need to have an accredited certificate in advanced waxing (Brazilian and Hollywood) in order to gain insurance for themselves or their salon. Lycon now offer Advanced Precision waxing courses, accredited by the Guild. Once you have participated in any of the training courses you will automatically join their exclusive list of approved Lycon salons. This will allow Lycon's team of customer service representatives to direct any calls when asking for their nearest salon.

Lycon have training schools located in West London and in Manchester at the Malmaison Hotel.

Class 1: Introduction To The Lycon System:

- Therapists will learn about the history of Lycon Wax and why Lycon is so different from any other wax on the market.
- Full product knowledge of the Lycon range along with the main ingredient breakdown will be explained. The unique procedure will be demonstrated;
- Therapists will practice on each other learning the correct application and techniques enabling them to perfect the art of Lycon waxing. Areas that will be covered are: Eyebrows, Lips, Underarms, Bikini and G String waxing.
- Troubleshooting along with Tips and Hints will end the session ensuring your therapists are confident and hooked on the Lycon Wax phenomenon!
